Printed to West Virginia Wesleyan
College by the 1957 Monumental Staff

Alma Mater of the mountains,
West Virginia Wesleyan;
At thy magic mystic fountains
Noblest dreams of life began.
We thy children bow before thee,
We thy children now adore thee,
And pledge God who watches o'er thee
Thou shalt fill the ample measures of his plan.

The 1959 Murmurmontis

published annually by the student body of
West Virginia Wesleyan College
Buckhannon, West Virginia

Member Associated Collegiate Press

Down the long walk . . .
from the Ad Building to Haymond Hall . . . winter to summer . . . the crunch of shoes in the snow . . the splat of a snowball . . . the deafening roar of a pre-game thuse . . . shrieks and sighs of basketball madness . . . chaotic cry of another chemistry catastrophe . . . the blast of the fire drill . . . the mocking cry of the cardinal signaling spring . . the ring of hammers from the new women's dorm . . . tick tock of the ping pong ball . . . the clash, clang and clatter of the dishwashing brigade . . . shrieks signifying the baptism of a newly pinned coed . . the monotonous thud of a tennis ball
. . . invade the dignity of the grove . . .

In the beginning . . . the bell-like "hello" . . . the clatter of writing boards . . . the crack of new books . . . the treasurer's thump of "O K" . . . the squeak of shoes in the library . . . hiss, spew and clank of radiators . . . the rumble of stairs between classes . . . the shrill vibrato from the music rooms . . . the rhythmic beat of the SCOW juke box . . . the cacophony of orchestra tune-up . . . the whispering of pencils through blue books . . . the swish of graduation gowns . . . the scrape of feet in the processional . . . the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" . . . noblest dreams of life begin . . .

We remember . . . the thunder of feet leaving Atkinson . . . the clicking of typewriters . . . the ring of a coin tossed during an exam . . . the garbled sounds from the speech room . . . the squeaky trail of an early chapel exit . . . the clatter and roar of the B & O . . . the blare of hi-fi at midnight . . . the voice of Cherokee Sue . . . the sputtering of midnight oil . . . the hushed whisper of a confidential talk . . . the melody of a serenade . . . sounds of our life at Wesleyan . . .

Thou did fulfill . . the enthusiasm of the K.K.K.K. . . . "Elijah" resounding from the chapel during Advent . . spontaneous fellowship of evening M.S.M. . . . rustle of chapel programs . . .
giving of fellowship teams . . . the singing beauty of God in nature . . . hushed dignity of a collect repeated together . . . singing of "Gloria" at Eastertide . . . the soft murmur of prayer at vespers . . . chimes breaking the stillness of night . . . the silence of a memorial service . . . a whispered prayer in Brown Chapel . . . the stillness of His Holy Communion . . . and pledge God . . .

Dedicated to thee . . .

To those who have gone before and to all those who will come after . . to the people who have made our Alma Mater a living institution . . . to the people who will continue to make West Virginia Wesleyan a vital force in education . . . to men like Dr. Stanley Martin, eleventh president of the college . . . to men like Col. Frank Thompson, captain of the first Wesleyan football squad in 1899, an originator of the orange and black school colors . . . to great teachers like Dr. Ralph Brown and Dr. Lewis Chrisman . . . to all these the 1959 MURMURMONTIS pays tribute . . . for they are West Virginia Wesleyan.

Stanley Hubert Martin . . . President

Dr. Stanley H. Martin continued to create and promote a spirit of good will among students and faculty during his second full year as president of the college. He very successfully promoted lasting relations between the Wesleyan community and the public. In his position as head engineer, counselor, public relations coordinator, administrator, and friend to everyone, the president filled an essential gap in the college organization. Visitors at Wesleyan's red-brick White House were always received in typical Martin fashion—a warm "Hello."

of the College

The Board of Trustees

During the fall session the Board of Trustees made several decisions affecting the future of the college. A fund-raising campaign was authorized for a new, million-dollar science building. An architect was employed by the Board during the year to submit plans for campus extension during the next ten years. The Wesleyan Trustees continued to guarantee a future of further growth and expansion.

Dean of the College

The dean of the college, Dr. Arthur Allen Schoolcraft, has, for the past thirty years, continually served the college in various capacities. Coming to Wesleyan in 1930 as professor of psychology and education, he has since held the positions of dean and registrar and, on occasion, has served as acting president. Dr. Schoolcraft, in his present position as academic dean and registrar, constantly strives to promote higher standards for the college and for the individual members of the college community.

Treasurer

The treasurer of the college, Mr. Heyward Williams, performs the task of handling the financial matters of the school. Receipts from student tuitional fees, room and board costs, and other income are received through his office. In his position of treasurer, it is also Mr. Williams' responsibility to oversee the successful operation of the budget.

Business Manager

The duties of the business manager cover a wide variational scope. In addition to controlling the outlay of money for the college, Mr. William Hicks has the responsibility of directing building maintenance, the West Virginia Inter-Collegiate Athletic Conference Tournament held annually at Wesleyan, receiving and distributing all of the college mail, organization of automobile traffic on campus, and various other business matters of importance to the welfare of the school.

Administration Building Center of Activity

Vice President

The general financial program of the college is directed from the office of Vice President James I. Ling in the Administration Building. Mr. Ling directed the fund raising program that provided college growth following World War II. The current college building program occupies much of Mr. Ling's time. A multi-million dollar program was continued during the year.

Admissions Director

A small but able student body was the announced objective of the Admissions Office. Mr. Raymond Kiser maintained a busy schedule during the year visiting high schools and groups in the state and North-central Jurisdiction of The Methodist Church. Applications for admission poured into the office as high school seniors began to think of a college education.

Director of Alumni Affairs

"Operation Bootstraps" kept Alumni Director James Stansbury occupied during the year. The campaign was waged by the Alumni office to enable a boost for faculty salaries. An Alumni Challenge Club agreed to match any contributions made by other Wesleyan graduates. This and a multitude of other alumni activities filled the calendar for Mr. Stansbury.

Publicity Director

From a quiet little office in the SCOW a steady stream of publicity releases and photographs flowed forth during the year. Actually not so quiet but certainly little, the office of Publicity Director James Patterson endured a steady stream of memos and visitors. Mr. Patterson began his first year as director of the Wesleyan News Bureau in the fall of 1958. Brochures for the college administration and academic divisions in addition to trips with the Bobcat floor squad added variety to the job of telling others about Wesleyan.

Counseling Center Located in Old Music Hall

Under the direction of head counselors Dr. Florence Schaper and Dr. Orlo Strunk the Wesleyan counseling offices offered many students a place to discuss their problems. Dr. Schaper's office in the Administration Building and Dr. Strunk's office in the Old Music Hall were open to those needing advice and encouragement. The Reverend Mr. Sidney T. Davis, chaplain of the college, could also be found behind the door of his office in the Old Music Hall. Planning chapel services and ministering to the 942 students at Wesleyan filled an already busy day for the Rev. Mr. Davis. The office of the dean of men, Mr. John Shaver, located in the Old Music Hall and the office of Miss Nellie Wilson, dean of women, in Agnes Howard Hall were two other focal points around the campus.

Community Council . . . Methodist Historical Room . . .

The gavel falls and another session of the Wesleyan Community council opens Wednesday evening in the Historical Room of the Annie Merner Pfeiffer Library. A multitude of problems found their way to the Community Council during the year.

A major accomplishment of the council was the skillful regulation of campus parking problems. A new community committee, the Traffic Committee, managed to curb many of the problems that confronted Wesleyan drivers. Finally it was possible to drive through the parking lot driveway without backing up.

Wednesday Evening

The community government sponsored, through the Educational Affairs Committee, a thorough study of the college curriculum. The administration cooperated to achieve a remarkable insight into the problems of providing liberal arts education.

The council also sponsored a series of fireside chats with administrative officials. College President Dr. Stanley Martin conferred with many elements of campus activity in such council projects. The lounge of McCluskey Hall and the Drawing room of Agnes Howard Hall were the scenes for these informative sessions.

Committees . . .

Plan, Direct Campus Living

Much of the load of government entrusted to the Community Council was delegated to several standing committees. These small committee groups directed the life of the campus.

The S.C.O.W. Committee administered the student center with Mrs. Vaughn as S.C.O.W. director. Other committees such as Social Activities, Special Activities, Traffic, and Awards regulated the phases of college activity accorded them.

The Special Activities Committee planned and executed the major traditional events such as Homecoming and May Day. All campus social activities were coordinated by the Social Activities Committee.

Residences . . .

Government by the People

Activity in the college residence halls was directed by three house boards. Women were governed by the Women's House Governing Association while men at McCuskey Hall and Fleming Hall were guided by their house boards.

Fleming Hall inaugurated its first house board during the year.

House parties at Agnes Howard Hall and the three other women's residences were provided by the governing board. Men at McCuskey found many solutions to the inevitable problems of a college dorm during the regular session of their legislative and executive body.

Recreation . . .

Diving Into the Pleasant Moments

Campus dances, SCOW mixers, fraternity and sorority functions, and a host of other attractions combine to provide Wesleyan students a busy schedule of required activities.

"Only three exams tomorrow, let's go to the flick." The Colonial and Kanawha are filled to the walls on weekends and during finals. The resourceful person found many things to prevent spending a few hours in the library.

If it can't be done at Wesleyan then it may be possible to do it in Clarksburg, Weston, or Elkins. Out-of-town trips lured many students to movies, bowling, and pizza parties. And, naturally, when the sun begins to break through the rain clouds the mass immigration to Audra sweeps the campus.

"Some Enchanted Evening" and the band plays on for the couples at the May Dance.

Right: Summer sessions, students, and the SCOW equal a watermelon feed to help endure the toil of July classes.

Far right: A leisurely Sunday afternoon means a fast pace game in a deserted gymnasium.

Working . . .

Work . . . most students do in one way or another: for cash or only to help another. Most students like to eat and occasionally are requested to mete out a few dollars. In order to meet this demand most students resorted to:

Letters home, work, printing money, starvation. But if the mails are too slow and the printing presses aren't running and starvation isn't appealing the only logical solution is—work.

Students are found working as proctors in the dorms, switchboard operators, library assistants, waiters in dining halls, and faculty assistants. Some even work for nothing. KKKK'ers put in long hours working on toys for underprivileged children.

Long hours in the summer and/or short hours in the winter—but most students do.

Living . . . Day by Day

Spring comes and with it comes a new visitor to McCuskey Hall. The Cow found on second floor in the middle of the night makes his exodus with the help of Mike Herrera and Mr. Hicks, college business manager.

Day by day . . . life moves at a fast pace in McCuskey Hall and the other campus residence halls: Agnes Howard, Fleming Hall, and women's residences at 49 South Florida, 55 and 68 College Avenue.

Dining halls at McCuskey, Agnes Howard, and "49" are filled three times daily with famished students. The dining rooms were operated by Saga Food Service.

The constant turmoil of a college dorm: quiet hours that are never so very quiet; showers that are always cold; heat that is never warm enough—all these elements combine to create the unique experience that is living, day by day, at Wesleyan.

The line forms to the rear, as all men at McCuskey Hall soon discover. Ted Waroblak, Jim Bastian, George France, and Rich Deshefy perform the daily ritual.

Studying . . .

"There is a tide in the affairs of men, which taken at the flood leads on to fortune . . ." but even Mr. Shakespeare never suffered the agony of an all night cram session. How to avoid this bane of every college student? Simple—study a little now and then.

The library, the dorms, the grove, and even the SCOW were places of refuge for the bewildered student seeking guidance for that exam tomorrow.

The Loar Hall Music Listening Room is the scene of serious contemplation of the classical works of music.

September 12 . . .

The "pause that refreshes" and new faces highlight this 'faculty get-acquainted' party.

September 12, the opening day of Freshman Week found the largest class in Wesleyan's history arriving on campus. The ensuing five days of orientation were filled with various assemblies, receptions, parties, and tests which competed with registration, a campus picnic, SCOW mixer and numerous other activities aimed at acquainting the class of '62 with West Virginia Wesleyan.

Freshman girls meet with their student counselors early in the week to get tips on the "do's and how's" of Wesleyan.

Freshmen Arrive

The Community Council and several of its committees planned many of the activities of Freshman Week which was climaxed Tuesday night with the SCOW All-Campus Party. Wednesday found upperclassmen and freshmen rushing for classes with "treasurer's OK" cards as the 1958-1959 school year began.

Upperclass student counselors labeled with "welcome to W.V.W.C." name tags, assemble the new students and assist with the orientation program.

These freshmen look busy, but they are only confused as they enjoy their first mental exercise at a get-acquainted party.

Parents also get acquainted with Wesleyan's campus during their prodigy's first big day at college.

Homecoming . . . The Day That

Freshmen don appropriate orange and black for Wesleyantics "locker-room" skit.

The coronation ceremony, bonfire thuse, Wesleyantics, the annual parade, football game with West Liberty, a barbecue, and the big dance topped the October 25 weekend as hundreds of alums and friends visited the Buckhannon campus and weathered the rains.

Christmas . . . Advent Brings Cheer and Meditation

"Cantique de Noel," echoing from the tower chimes of the Ad building filtered Christmas spirit into the daily campus routine. Carols were on hundreds of lips during chapel and vesper services as the message of "Good News" was heard in the music of the season.

Mendlesohn's Elijah was performed by the college choir for the traditional Christmas concert. The final Sunday of December spent at Wesleyan featured a campus tree lighting ceremony and an all-college party at McCuskey Hall during the evening. The Christmas dance capped the social activities of the week.

The Christmas spirit also includes the moments of devout praises. Professor Irma Hopkins, director of Hyma Glee Club, is soloist at all-college party in McCuskey Hall.

Deep concentration and tremendous effort of the orchestra creates the atmosphere for soloist Judy Lampila during a rehearsal for "The Elijah."

McCuskey Hall opens its doors to hundreds of guests during the Advent season. Students fill the dining hall for the all-campus party.

In the shade and sunlight students enjoy one of the many all-campus picnics.

The pickin's are best when the picnic is on a leaf covered campus.

Dining . . . Old and New

Some of the more informal traditions enjoyed by the college community are picnics and birthday dinners. The newest of these is community dining under the trees. Everyone seemed to enjoy this tradition although an occasional falling leaf found its way into the potato salad. Indoors birthday celebrants were treated with special dinners complete to birthday cakes with individually lighted candles, much to the chagrin of the Agnes Howard Hall waiters.

Dinner chimes and candle topped cakes are evidence of another birthday dinner at Agnes Howard Hall.

Evening meditations are provided in the weekly vespers programs conducted by the Methodist Student Movement.

May Day Weekend . . .

Singing, Dining and Dancing

As usual, the first weekend in May highlighted Wesleyan's spring social activities. Reigning during the two-day festivities were Queen Janie Pfalzgraf and her attendants, Harriet Aveyard, senior; Mary Lou Hetz, junior; Bette Kae Catlin, sophomore; and Bonnie Ames, freshman.

Along with the dance and coronation, the May Sing was the most anticipated of the weekend activities. Theta Chi fraternity was awarded first place in the singing contest. Ed Hodsdon, director of the Independent singing group, was awarded the honor of best director.

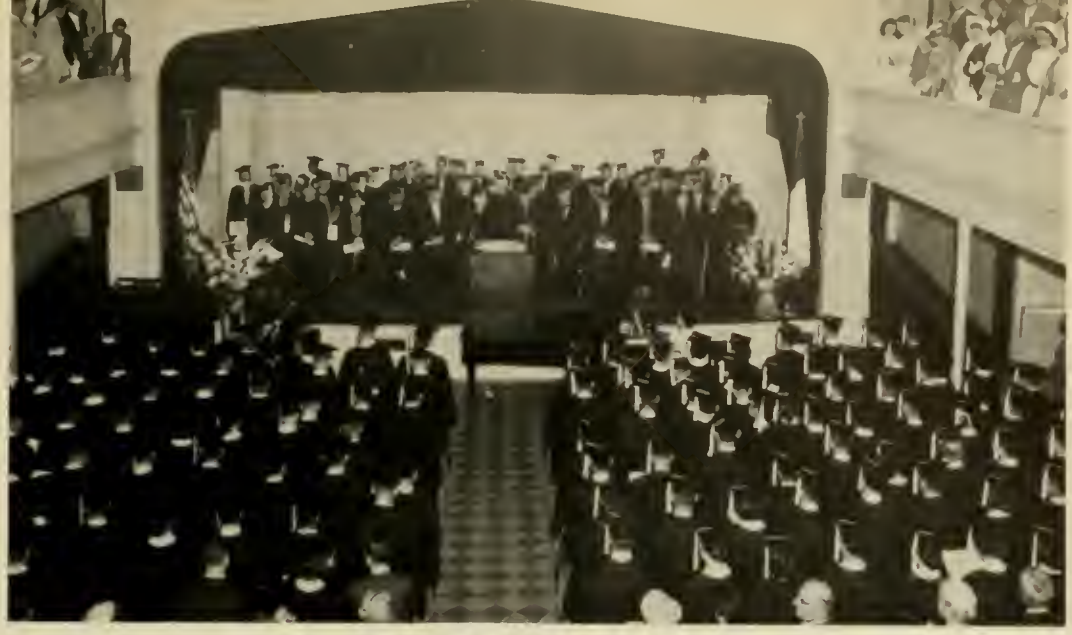
On Sunday morning seniors, faculty, and administration gather in front of Agnes Howard Hall to form the procession.

The procession makes its way to Atkinson Chapel.

Dr. Martin congratulates each senior as he comes to the stage for his diploma.



Everyone stands as the invocation begins the service.

Graduation . . . The Climax of Another Year

Graduation weekend included the annual Benzene Ring Strawberry Breakfast featuring the selection of the Kamphor King. Seniors and alumni alternated between dinners at McCuskey Hall, private parties, and commencement activities. Sunday morning Baccalaureate began a schedule that concluded with the presentation of diplomas at Tuesday morning Graduation ceremonies.

Graduation was the climax of another school year for many weary seniors and for some it was the culmination of four years of themes, term papers, equations, formulas, and miles of printer's type.

Honorary degrees are also conferred at the graduation ceremony

Fraternities, Sororities . . . Interfraternity and

A new constitution was the signal achievement in interfraternity relations during the year. Members of the Interfraternity Council worked long hours to revise and modernize the old methods of organization.

The presidents and representatives of each of the five fraternities regulated the rushing and social activities for the Greeks. The policy of delayed rushing was continued with freshmen eligible only for second semester rushing and initiation during May.

Sororities were united by the Panhellenic Council. The three national social sororities continued long-standing custom by rushing freshmen during the fall.

Greek life on campus moved at a rapid pace during the year. Spring formals were a climax of the year for most societies. House parties, hay rides, dances, receptions, and rushing formed the core of the Greek vocabulary.

The crowded social calendar of Alpha Gamma Delta this year included a hayride, picnics, a "Silhouette" dance, pledge dance, Christmas party, and the annual spring formal.

Alpha Delta Pi . . . Gamma Kappa Chapter

An Oriental slant was the theme of the informal rush party.

Pat Wentworth, Deann LeBeau, Judy Lampila, Elnora Chambers, Marilyn Firl, and Sharie Dean form the Alpha Delta Pi double trio.

In addition to regular social events held each month, the sisterhood participated in several philanthropic activities. One such occasion was at Halloween when the girls of Gamma Kappa Chapter assisted the churches in town in collecting money for UNICEF. Other charitable acts of the society included a Christmas Party at the Kappa Sigma Pi Childrens' Home in Clarksburg, as well as the making of contributions to a service fund for crippled children.

Homecoming was a more than successful weekend for the A D Pis. The sorority president, Nancy Jo Funk, was chosen to reign as Homecoming Queen. The girls were overjoyed when both their Wesleyantics skit and their float in the parade captured first place honors.

Ever mindful of their social responsibilities, the A. D. Pis include in their activities such events as a pledge dance, an alumnae banquet, teas, and the annual spring formal. Still another significant part of the program of the sorority is a workshop conducted for one weekend each year. At this meeting the plans for the future are adopted.

Alpha Xi Delta . . .

Ten of Beta Sigma's new pledges smile their happiness the night of pre-pledging.

The Alpha Xis opened their activities calendar in September with a rummage sale netting $100.01. A hayride was the first social function of the year, followed by homecoming activities with actives and fifteen pledges kicking up their heels to "Collegiate" in Wesleyantics and claiming Nadine Schaffer as junior attendant. A dance honoring Beta Sigma's pledges was the big event of November. Alpha Xis celebrated the Christmas season with a chapter pajama party complete with food and games, a Christmas party for underprivileged children featuring Santa Claus, and caroling with Panhellenic.

To start the new year, the pledges honored the actives at a supper party, January 11th, in the Home Economics room. February 13th found Alpha Xis and dates celebrating a day early at the annual Sweetheart Dance. Founders' Day was the main fraternity function in April, followed by May Day festivities, and finally the biggest event of the year—the Rose Formal.

Alpha Sigma Phi

The men of Beta Nu are proud of their recently acquired house.

One of the principal achievements of Alpha Sigma Phi was its contest victories during Homecoming. The Alpha Sigs took special pride in their house decorations which won a first place victory. The fraternity float in the Homecoming Parade drew a second place position in the stiff competition.

Having distinguished themselves socially by having the first Playboy Party in the state, the Alpha Sigs continued their social events with a Greenwich Village Party followed by a Sweetheart Dance honoring the fraternity sweetheart, Miss Janet Harris.

Theta Chi . . .

The Theta Chi's Christmas decorations greet all visitors at the door.

For the third consecutive year, the Theta Chis were proud of the distinction of winning the intramural fraternity football championship. Such other honors as first place in the 1958 May Day Sing, second place award in Wesleyantics, and a second place rating in the Christmas house-door decorations contest continually placed the men of Delta Gamma Chapter toward the front ranks of Wesleyan's Greeks.

On the social agenda have been such functions as a hayride, Anniversary Formal, Homecoming open house, and various house parties. Highlighting the social reflections was the annual spring formal.

Old South Weekend, a major activity of the KA's, depicted to the highest degree, the Southern tradition of the Order. Included in this round of festivities were the Southern House Party, a parade, and the traditional Dixie Ball. Beta Chi Chapter, the oldest social Fraternity on campus, further enhanced its social tradition with such activities as the Annual Alumni Banquet, house parties, and the Sweetheart Dance. Early in the fall the landscaping of the front lawn improved the appearance of the chapter house.

Kappa Sigma Kappa . . . West Virginia Eta Chapter

Two new actives. John and Nick, discuss problems with their brothers.

Actives and pledges join forces to "Smash the Hilltoppers" with the Kappa float.

The Kappa social calendar of the year, climaxed by the spring formal, The Iris Ball, was keynoted with variety. A Hayride and old-fashioned square dance at the Adrian School set a lively pace for the ensuing functions. A night-club setting was the theme of the "Kappa Kabana" Dance at the local Elks Club. Pledge dances, serenades, and rush parties completed the Kappas' social kapers.

Following a vigorous political campaign, James Harbert was elected to the office of International Chaplain at the annual convention of the society held in August at St. Louis. Serving as host to the spring meeting of the Southeastern Province Conclave, West Virginia Eta was elated at having Tom Leach elected to serve the province as chaplain. Another victory for the chapter was accomplished when Garry Campbell was presented an award for writing one of the best pledge letters to the Grand International President.

Since graduating from colony status in 1955, Kappa Sigma Kappa has grown from a nucleus of thirteen charter members to a brotherhood of twenty-eight members; from a little-known campus group to a significant part of the social life of the college.

Phi Sigma Epsilon

Local Fraternity
Organized 1951

Fraternity sweetheart, Jean Teagarden, receives her crown of honor at the Spring Formal held at the Hotel Waldo in Clarksburg.

The only local fraternity on Wesleyan's campus, Phi Sigma Epsilon topped its achievements by winning the inter-fraternity scholarship trophy last fall for the second semester of 1958. Somewhat later in the season the Phi Sigs won the B-league championship in Greek intramural football.

Socially, the fraternity enjoyed a bowling party, an Italian hobo party, and a Christmas formal.

Murmurmontis Staff . . .

Business Managers
LYNN WESTFALL, JIM McLAUGHLIN

They said it couldn't be done, but the staff of The 1959 MURMURMONTIS found that . . . they were right. With the immortal words of Emerson, "A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds," Jim managed to perpetuate the aura of mass confusion that surrounded the Publications Office during the year. Swarms of staff members were constantly screaming for either changes or help.

"They didn't come. Where were you? What is it now? Please," and, "We never do it that way," were the phrases tossed about the office as the overworked and undernourished staff struggled to meet the three deadlines. Who had time to study?

Paul and Jane could never quite agree as John, Sue, Skip, Al, Joan and Mart helped continue the turmoil. Jim Mc and Lynn scoured the countryside looking for money as Howard, Kleber, and Al trudged about snapping the endless list of pictures demanded.

The year began well, but as the days slipped by things steadily worsened until with the first West Virginia snowflakes the office seemed to be buried under the avalanche of work. "We can do that next week." Next week always came too soon. The consumption of Cokes and Camels steadily increased until that gala day arrived,.February 23. Finally the staff leaned back to wait . . . the day of publication, and The 1959 MURMURMONTIS becomes a reality.

Tired, yep, but those lay-out sheets have to be finished. Deadline is 12 noon. Editors Jan Boggess and B. B. Weiglein ponder another problem.

The Pharos

As each edition reaches the campus, 1,200 copies of the Wesleyan Pharos are swallowed up by eager students, faculty, and administration in less than five minutes after delivery.

Written and published entirely by a student staff, The Pharos has shown marked improvement in recent years and is an active influence on campus. Among Pharos sponsored projects are a special literary contest for students offering awards for best works appearing in a spring literary issue; a contest offering a trophy to the campus house having the most original Christmas door decorations; and a contest to select the best-dressed girl on campus. The Alumni Office this year published a special composite issue of The Pharos so that alumni might view campus life from the student angle.

The Pharos receives critical service from both the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and the Associated Collegiate Press. Pharos editors were among the 1,100 college editors assembled in Chicago for the 34th Annual A.C.P. Conference in November.

Editors, Jan Boggess and B. B. Weiglein, wear wide grins. The next issue just went to the printer.

Sports writers, Andy France and Bruce Gourlay, keep busy; Boswell appears behind the newspaper.

Production of Tennessee Williams' THE GLASS MENAGERIE during the fall and another major presentation in the spring were among the accomplishments of the Wesleyan Playshop. Directed by Miss Betty Groah and guided by President James Tracy the Playshop featured a busy and dramatic year.

Programs, scenery, lighting, costumes, and script were the words bantered about by the members of the drama group.

The Playshop also helped foster the greatly increased dramatic program of the college in the curriculum.

Playshop production of Oscar Wilde's THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST brings campus acclaim.

Student Artists and Musicians

Loar Hall formed the Mecca for budding artists at Wesleyan. Under the guidance of Professor Fred Messersmith the Student Art Guild provided touches of color to campus living. A project of the guild was the renting of art reproductions and student works to students and faculty for each semester. The group also sponsored several campus activities such as the Masterpiece of the Week and visiting exhibits.

The Collegians added new laurels to their already wide recognition during the year. Performances in several Central West Virginia Communities were typical of the year. An engagement at Davis and Elkins College before the annual Wesleyan-D. and E. game ended in a mass kidnapping of the orchestra by D. and E. fraternities. The Collegians rallied to the occasion to carry home a few trophies of their own when finally released the next day.

Orchestra and Marching Band

The Marching Band stirred enthusiasm again during the football season appearing under the direction of Dr. C. Buel Agey and Student Director John Campbell. The Band worked long hours preparing half-time festivities for the Homecoming Game, only to be rained out.

Founders' Day and Advent were marked by the appearance of the Wesleyan Orchestra. The musical ensemble accompanied the A Cappella Choir for Mendelssohn's ELIJAH and during the Founders' Day ceremonies.

Many smaller musical groups inhabit Loar Hall burning the midnight oil for practice sessions and activities. Organ students formed the Wesleyan Student Chapter of the American Guild of Organists while music majors and minors were members of the M.E.N.C. or Music Educators' National Conference. Student quartets such as the Chordials were an active group.

Hyma Glee Club

Each Tuesday morning the A Cappella Choir rose to the occasion to sing in the chapel service. The long arduous hours of rehearsal materialized into the production of the ELIJAH and a tour of Northern West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania during the spring. The outstanding quality of the Wesleyan Choir was applauded by critics as distant as Pittsburgh.

The second year of Hyma Glee Club was greeted with acclaim by the entire campus community. Under the direction of Miss Irma Hopkins the Glee Club appeared for several campus occasions including the Advent festivities.

Homemaking and Recreation

The Betty Lamp Club was the departmental organization for home economics majors and minors. The club provided activities for the students in the department and practical experience in home management and planning.

Basketball, hockey, and other sports were the major activity of the Women's Recreation Association. A winter dance was held for members and their guests. The association also sponsored other social activities including roller skating and ice skating parties.

Workers Together

Men of Methodist preference found a common bond in the activities of the campus service projects of Sigma Theta Epsilon. Completing three years of activity at Wesleyan, the men of S.T.E. were one of the largest groups on campus.

Guided by their president, Jack Sanders, the service fraternity was accorded special recognition by the national organization. Alpha Gamma chapter was named host for the 1959 regional conclave.

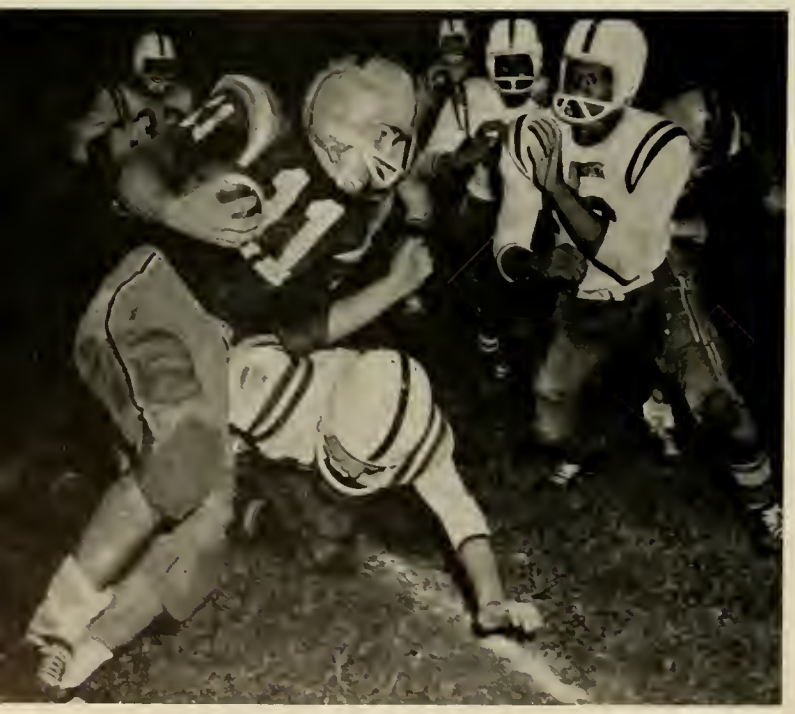
Marietta . . .

The Wesleyan Bobcats opened a snappy season for new head coach Sam Ross by dropping a quick 25-12 decision to Marietta. Marietta took the opening kickoff and marched downfield to score two quick touchdowns before Wesleyan got into the picture when Jim Hawkins carried the ball over from the one yard line after a 40 yard march. Both teams scored before the first half ended with the Bobcats' tally coming on a five yard pass play from Bernie Bartek to Tay Meister. The second half of the game proved to be a seesaw battle which culminated with the Rossmen stopping the Pioneers on the one yard line with less than a minute left to play.



Fay Slaughter has intentions of going all the way even though a mass of white with looks of confidence on their faces are closing in.

Bethany . . . Fairmont . . .

The 'Cats' second game with Bethany ended in a 7-7 deadlock. The Bisons took the opening kickoff and moved to the Wesleyan 30 yard line where the stout 'Cat line stalled their offensive maneuvers and took possession of the ball but were forced to punt three plays later. The Bisons took the punt and moved into the end zone for their lone tally. Half way through the fourth quarter, halfback Fay Slaughter shook loose on the Bisons' 22 yard line and scampered to the 5. Bartek climaxed the 68 yard drive by going into the end zone from the one foot line. Dean Patenaude's attempt for the extra point was good and Wesleyan had its first tie game of the season.

The 'Cats' second road trip proved disastrous as the Falcons tripped over the Rossmen 31-6. The Falcons scored from the kickoff in the first quarter but Wesleyan bounced back in the second quarter as they intercepted a pass and sent Jim Hawkins into the end zone for their lone score. The Fairmont team dominated the second half by scoring three touchdowns and an extra point while holding the Bobcats scoreless.

Larry Beckett moves the ball to the West Liberty 10 yard line to set up a Wesleyan score.

The evasive Fay Slaughter returns a Davis and Elkins punt.

Salem . . . Glenville . . . West Liberty

The Salem Tigers showed no mercy as they clawed the Cats 19-7. Salem scored one touchdown in each of the first three periods. Wesleyan scored on a series of running plays by Slaughter and Hawkins. Sam Gross converted for the extra point.

Wesleyan journeyed to Weston to play the Glenville Pioneers only to take the worst shellacing of the season as the Pioneers rolled over them 20-0. It was just one of those nights when nothing seemed to go right offensively or defensively.

Wesleyan racked up its victory by defeating the West Liberty Eagles 12-0 before a near capacity crowd. The Bobcats showed their offensive ability by scoring in the second and third quarters. The 'Cats, lead by their capable seniors, succeeded in holding the Eagles scoreless on a muddy field.

The Bobcats try the center of the line for a short gain.

Wesleyan's offensive unit eagerly awaits a chance to get in the game and move the ball.

Bridgewater . . .

Wesleyan returned from Birdgewater boasting a hard fought 6-6 tie. The first three quarters of the game was a scoreless, seesaw battle. Bridgewater broke the ice in the fourth quarter when their halfback pulled in a pass and scampered down the sideline into the end zone. Bernie Bartek saved the game for Wesleyan when, with less than three minutes left to play in the game, he recovered a Bridgewater fumble and threw a touchdown pass to Larry Beckett. The P.A.T. was no good and Wesleyan had its second tie game of the season.

Davis and Elkins . . .

The Bobcats wreaked their vengence upon the Senators for painting the pillars by trouncing them 13-7. The Senators lead the 'Cats 7-0 at half time but the second half was Wesleyan all the way. Fay Slaughter scored in the third quarter and Sam Gross converted for the extra point. In the fourth period Bernie Bartek set up the final score when he flipped a pass to Slaughter that was good for 50 yards. Larry Beckett carried the ball into the end zone on a ten yard gallop.

Bernie Bartek calls signals in the Wesleyan drive that culminated in a touchdown.

Basketball

The Wesleyan Bobcats rounded out the season with their first conference title in twenty-four years. The title gave Wesleyan the top seeded spot in the annual W.V.I.A.C. Tournament and they promptly showed their championship abilities by downing West Liberty 78-68 and dropping Concord 100-70. It seemed as though the fairy godmother of the Glenville and Davis and Elkins Cinderella teams forgot to make her appearance when they tangled with the 'Cats and emerged badly mauled—100-66 and 108-64. Wesleyan claimed the tournament title for the second consecutive year.

The Bobcats and the Golden Eagles of Morris Harvey, conference runner-up, collided in the District 28, N.A.I.A. playoff for the right to represent the district at the Kansas City national tournament. The Ellismen swept the series.

The squad was seeded second at the opening of the Kansas City, sudden death games. The team entered the tournament with five players averaging in double figures, the fourth leading rebounder in the nation (Ken Remley), and its N.A.I.A. All-American nominee (Gary Hess.)

After defeating Whittier of California and the University of Minnesota at Duluth the Bobcats won the distinction of the best record for College basketball in the nation with 34 wins and 1 loss.

A quarter-final defeat by Fort Hayes State College of Kansas dashed all hope for a national championship but only until the next tournament. Bobcat rooters witnessed the final defeat at the hands of an inspired and red-hot squad from the midwest.

Jim McDonald was named to the AP All-American third team and was given honorable mention for the UPI All-American listing.

Ending their careers with the floor squad were Jim Wilkinson and Gary Hess.

At the beginning of the West Liberty game, which proved to be Wesleyan's twenty-first victory of the season, Ken Remley gives his all in the tipoff.

Jim McDonald adds two points to the cause as Wesleyan romps over Tech 90-77.

Wesleyan's red-hot Bill Bauserman connects with a jumpshot from fifteen feet out.

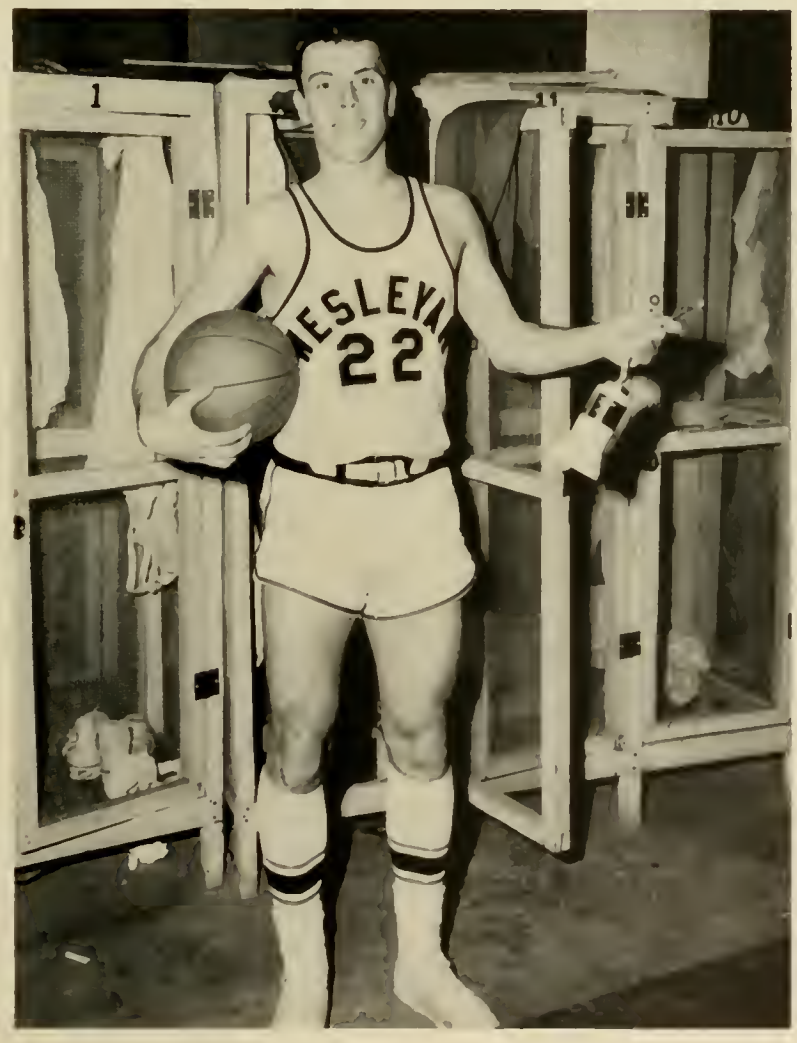
Jim Wilkinson and Bill Smith "think about the game" while coaches Eilis and Ross tape their ankles.

Bobcat rooters follow the team to Kansas City. A bus sponsored by the Community Council transported a cheering section to the city on the plains.



Gary Hess, Wesleyan's senior co-captain, led the Bobcat quintet in honors. Hess was nominated for Little All-American in the N.A.I.A., earned All-Conference and All-Tournament honors, and was picked Most Valuable Player for the W.V.I.A.C. Tournament. His speed, drive, and uncanny shooting ability gave the Bobcat opponents fits throughout the season.

Cross Country

1958—CROSS COUNTRY SUMMARY

Wesleyan	53	25	Fairmont
Wesleyan	45	33	Marshall
Wesleyan	51	27	Fairmont

Nine Wesleyan athletes put in more time and mileage in the fall but reaped little glory for their efforts. The cross country team ran in three meets during the season, covering much of scenic Upshur County but not winning a meet. In all three meets the Bobcat harriers took the most points, but like golf, in cross country it's the low score that counts. Jack Fraser turned in the best performance of the season for the 'Cats, taking first place against Marshall College by touring the four-mile course in 25:07 minutes. Jack Johnstones's 22:10 minutes run against Fairmont State was the best Wesleyan time of the season but earned him only fifth place against the Falcons.

The Wesleyan harriers jog around the stadium track, training for another rough bout.

Wesleyan's hockey team participated in intercollegiate athletic contests during the fall semester as it won one out of four field hockey games.

The Bobkittens, coached by Miss Christofel, made two trips during the season defeating Davis and Elkins on thier home field and losing at Fairmont.

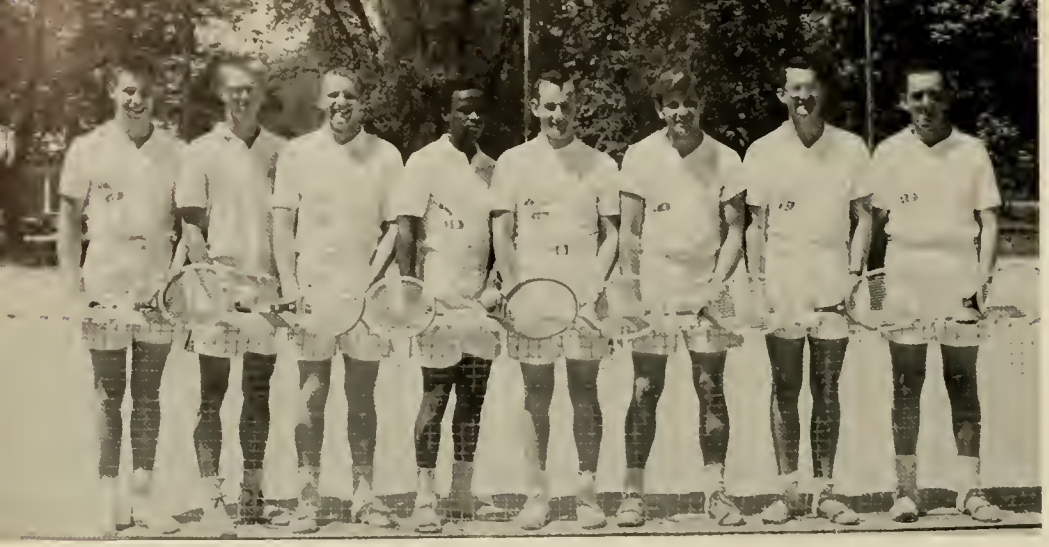
The question is "which team is in possession of the ball?"

The Bobkittens score against Davis and Elkins on the home field.



William Clawson, Ralph Undriener, William Norman, Ronald Talkington, (captain), Frank Horn, Jim Wilkerson, John Burnett, Coach Reemsnyder.

Tennis

The Wesleyan courtmen had a rough season as they were hampered by an excessive amount of rain and had to do much of their practicing in the gym. With only two seniors on this year's team the prospects for a successful coming season seem very good.

Baseball

The Wesleyan baseball team, under the capable hand of Coach "Hank" Ellis, rounded out a successful season by playing .700 ball in the conference. The 'Cats were paced by hitters Will Downham, Gary Hess, George Seagraves, John Holt, and "Butch" Pennett, and the excellent pitching of Bernie Bartek, Jack Wilfong, Larry West, and Will Downham.

Track

The Wesleyan Trackmen rounded out a successful season by topping seven teams in the ninth West Virginia Inter-Collegiate Athletic Conference Track Meet which was held at Bethany. 1958 was the fourth consecutive year that Wesleyan has held the championship trophy. The team was led by seniors Cliff Judy, Tod Torrence, Jerry Boe, and Frank Ardito.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Five varsity cheerleaders and their advisor, Miss Christofel, were responsible for much of the school spirit and enthusiasm displayed at Wesleyan athletic events during the year.

Tom Leach, head cheerleader, and Sandy Fultineer, Bette Kae Catlin, Peggy Forman, and Ginny Griffin comprised the Bobcat cheering squad which made almost as many trips as the football and basketball teams.

Advisor Miss Christofel tacks up another practice schedule.

At the Davis and Elkins field, cheerleaders and team followers express their approval of Wesleyan's 13-7 lead.

Intramurals

The school intramural championships were won by Pat Moor's football team, the Goofers volleyball team, Agnes Hess' hockey team, and Gretchen Kachel's volleyball team.

The runners-up were the Theta Chi football team, who were the Greek League Champs, and the Kappa Alpha Griers, who were Greek League Volleyball Champs.

The feminine set at Wesleyan enjoys playing field hockey in their spare time.

From the Editor

A small occupational force took up residence in the SCOW Publications Office early in the year with only a chart tacked on a wall and a clean chalkboard to mark the occasion.

Gradually stacks of paper, books, and pamphlets accumulated around the office. Somewhere in the midst of these resources lay the vital statistics for production of two hundred pages of photo and print. In careful determination the staff plied its way, seeking a key for success.

As each deadline approached the lights glimmered far into the night from an otherwise deserted student center. Dan Boone volunteered many hours along with tremendous contributions by Rosemary Culp and Al Machenberg. Jane Reemsnyder, Paul Moser, and John Campbell worked until the wee hours with assistance from the other members of the staff.

Finally the trip to the post office was made, the stamps were placed on the final shipment of copy, and . . . they said it couldn't be done.

B.A., LL.D., MARIETTA COLLEGE

S.T.B., Ph.D., BOSTON UNIVERSITY

PROFESSOR WEST VIRGINIA WESLEYAN

DEAN OF THE COLLEGE 1942-1959

DIED FEBRUARY 1, 1959

We, Students at
West Virginia Wesleyan
pay humble tribute to a great man:
professor, dean, registrar, twice acting president, and elder of The Methodist Church . . .

DR. ARTHUR ALLEN SCHOOLCRAFT, FOREMOST IN EDUCATION AT
WEST VIRGINIA WESLEYAN COLLEGE

Alma Mater of the mountains,
West Virginia Wesleyan;
At thy magic mystic fountains
Noblest dreams of life began.
We thy children bow before thee,
We thy children now adore thee,
And pledge God who watches o'er thee
Thou shalt fill the ample measures of his plan.
